

Seventh Grader awarded the Discovery Young Scientist Award

April 2, 2007

Thomas Jefferson Independent Day School announces MSSU Middle School Science Fair winners. Seventh grader Alex Oserowsky took 1st Place in Physics and the Discovery Young Scientist Award with his science fair project that tested "How extreme temperature affects the strength of fishing line." Other winners include; Ninth grader Emily Watson-3rd Place Animal Studies, seventh grader Bradon Dunker-3rd Place Plant Studies, seventh grader Katie Arnold-American Women in Geoscience Award and sixth grader Justin Brown-Most Outstanding Project in Materials Science.